

"CHANGING FACE OF STREETS"
THE EVOLUTION OF STREET CHARACTER WITH RELATION TO ITS ACTIVITY PATTERN IN ESPECIAL REFERENCE TO GALLE FORT

A Dissertation Presented for the Degree of Master of Science at University of Moratuwa, Sri Lanka in January 2007

H.R.O. Soysa

2007

89500

declaration

---

I declare that this dissertation represent my own work, except where due acknowledgement is made and that it has been previously included in a thesis, dissertation or report submitted to this university to any other institution for degree, diploma or other qualification.

.....
signature of the supervisor

 Dr. Harsha Munasinghe,
Senior lecture,
Faculty of Architecture,
University of Moratuwa,
Sri Lanka

.....
signature of the student

H.R.D. Soysa,
Department of Architecture
Faculty of Architecture,
University of Moratuwa,
Sri Lanka

Acknowledgement

---

This dissertation owes much possibility, its existence with the assistance and the guidance by following people and would like to convey my profound gratitude and heartfelt thanks.

Prof. Samitha Manawadu, head of the Department Of Architecture, University Of Moratuwa for his constant guidance to the master of science in architecture.

Dr. Harsha Munasinghe, for his guidance, encouragement and affording by his enriched experience in galle fort.

Archt Jayanath Silva and Ms Arosha Gunawardena for their valuable support and guidance as year persons.

Archt. Vidura Sri Nammuni, Dr. Upendra Rajapakse, Engineer Susira Udalamaththa for their advice and valuable comments during this study.

Archt. Kanishka Gunawardena, Prof. Rajive Kadem, assistance professor, Faculty Of Architecture, Cept University and Archit Hiranti Welandawe, for inspiring to the new dimensions in architecture.

Sp. J.H. Jayaweera Of S.T.F., And J.B.T.J. Balagalla chief inspector of police in Galle, Mr. Parakrama Nirielle and those who gave permission to take informations in most secured areas.

Minor staff of the faculty of architecture and people of the Galle fort for their support in composing this study at this level.

to all my friends anuradha, nadeesh, kaveesh for making my dreams into graphics and especially for gayan for being as a shadow during hard times of this dissertation.

My parents, sister for doing entire corrections and savindi for her immense support in every event in this study.

Finally I dedicate this study for those who devoted their life to the mean of their children, like my amma.

Contents	page no
Declaration	i
Acknowledgements	ii
Contents	iii
List of illustration	v
Introduction	01
 Chapter one:
Space, Place and Its Dimensions	07
1:1 Space and perception of place	08
1:2 Place and its components	11
1:3 Character of the place and its identification	12
1:3:1 Perception of character	12
1:3:2 Character of place	13
1:3:3 Segments of the character of a place	15
 Chapter two:
The Street, Use of Its History	19
2:1 Historical background of street	20
2:1:1 Streets in sir lankan context and its history	21
2:2 Place making in the street	23
2:2:1 Spatial attributes of street	23
2:2:2 Streetscape, its components and character	27
2:3 Role of street in the city	30
2:3:1 Function of street	30
2:4 Activity pattern as a determinant factor of the streetscape	37

Chapter three:

Evolution of Galle as Fortified City to the Present	40
3:1 Origin of galle	41
3:2 Colonial space making in galle fort	42
3:2:1 Pre colonial period	42
3:2:2 Portuguese influences to the erection of galle fort	44
3:2:3 Dutch in the expansion of the galle fort	49
3:2:4 Developments under the British rule	53
3:3 Post colonial space in galle fort	59
3:4 Evolution of city plan and street layout	63
3:5 Effects of franchised economy on street usage.	69

Chapter four:

Study of the relationship between streetscape character and the activity pattern.	72
4:1 Basis for the selection of case studies	73
4:2 Socio-physical features as a setting stone for the case study.	74
4:2:1 Historical reference of each streetscape	75
4:2:2 City layout as a grid line to the location	83
4:2:3 Physical features of the streetscape	84
4:2:4 Activity pattern as determine factor to the social character	87
4:3 Relationship of activity pattern of the street and its' expressive character	91
4:4 Concluding remarks of the chapter four	109
Conclusion	112
Bibliography	118
Appendix	121

List of illustrations

---

Image no & description	page no
Fig 01 & 02: Architecture as an Art of Space	09
Fig 03: Space and mankind	09
Fig 04: diagrammatic pattern of panjab village	10
Fig 06: components of place	11
Fig 05: visual metaphor for the nature of places	11
Fig 07: character of Buddhism through architecture and visual art	13
Fig 08: Two distinctive features of man kind	14
Fig 09 & 10: physical features define the open space within an urban entity	16
Fig 11 & 12: Changing face of Queen Street from British period to the present	17
Fig 13 & 14: Festival character of a place and Its Psychological definition	18
Fig 15: communal activity as a basic concept of street, nomadic African Bushmen	20
Fig 16: the hunted herd as road makers; rock carving, namforsen, Sweden.	20
Fig 17: ancient street structure of monasteries at	21
Fig 18: Kandy perahera yesterday & today	22
Fig: 19, 20: Changing of the built environment in British period & now	23
Fig 22, 23: Variety of the spatial structure; alleyways in Spain	25
Fig 24: layout plan of city of Panadura & Serial vision	26
Fig 25: changing face of streetscape by billboards	27
Fig 26: changing face of queen streetscape 1936 above, 1986 below	28
Fig 27: monolithic façade dominant the built environment ; great ware house, Galle	29
Fig 28: character of the street enhancing the prominence	29
Fig 29: different colors of street use, pondicherry by author	30
Fig30: activities are frozen by law , Lyen Baan Street	30
Fig 31 & 32,: diversity and variety of the context while almost dynamic	31
Fig 33: Street facilitates the activities of the temple,	32
Fig 34: children add a life to the street	33
Fig 35: street is become a promenade, pondicherry, India	35
Fig 35: the relationship of the community and the street.	36
Fig37: finally street becomes a heaven for those who have nothing.	37
Fig 38 & 39: variety of activities forms rich character to wellawatta in metropolitan	38
Fig40: marching towards to the mosque	38
Fig 41: queen street & light house 1880	39
Fig 42 & 43: old parliament in front of a commercial fabric	39
Fig 44: castle over the sea [source: de Silva & Beumer 1998	41
Fig 45 : galle considered as a point of harbor sea	43
Fig 46: Zwart bastion –evident of Portuguese architecture	44
Fig 47: map of Portuguese fort drawn by de' Resende in 1640	45

Fig 48: mashrabbya in Galle fort by Heydt 1740	47
Fig 49 : distinctive features of Portuguese house form Goa	48
Fig 50: map drawn by Valentijn in 1726	49
Fig 51: plan of the fort with existing of quarters	50
Fig 52 : connection of two quarters together With a service street, Galle fort	51
Fig 54,55 – two paradigms of dwelling Dutch house – peddler street	52
Fig : 56,57: changing face of entrances [old to new]	54
Fig 58: st: Ann's' Anglican Church on church street	55
Fig 59, 60: contrasting building elements in homogenous European built fabric;	56
Fig 61: Havelock's canal during the British, pettah	57
Fig 62: contestant of the built environment, Havelock's canal now	58
Fig 63: separated vegetable market and fish market in 1860 at Talbot town	58
Fig 64: modern influence in built environment, Church Street,	61
Fig 65: Expression of modern architecture – urban council, Galle	62
Fig 66: Galle during the Portuguese period.	64
Fig 67: Galle in the hands of the Dutch	65
Fig 68: Galle at the end of Dutch rule	66
Fig 69: Galle after two colonialisms	67
Fig 70,71: dilapidated state of china garden	68
Fig 72: change of the degree in land use pattern - 1990	69
Fig 73: defined administrative spaces with less public interaction – court square	70
Fig 74: screening; the street [ or ] dwelling - Leyn Baan Street	71
Fig:75,76– impressions of colonial architecture in Sri Lanka.	73
Fig: 77- Map of Queen Street and location in the fort	75
Fig:78,79 - Scenes of the most dominant feature on Queen Street ,Great Warehouse	76
Fig 80 – drawing of the warehouse and the physical entity of queen street	76
Fig 81,82 - similarity of two gable walls, Dutch reformed church and great warehouse	77
Fig: 83 – location, street plan and dominant built forms of church street	78
Fig 85: Map of Galle by Adriaen de Leeuw, 1659,	79
Fig 86: location of leyn baan street & Meera Mosque	80
Fig 87: location of Peddler Street & impression of street	82
Fig 88: - Aerial view from the sky	83
Fig: 89 higher columns were used to create a elegant character	86
Fig: 90, 91 responsiveness to the demand of context – Iyan bann street	88
Fig: 92,93,94 rejuvenation of Dutch dwellings	89
Fig:95,96- comparison of two court yards	90
Fig: 97: location in the fort	92
Fig: 98: location of magistrate court fabric of verandahs	92
Fig 98: private- public relationship of the dwelling with street	93
Fig 99,100: change of the facades according to the demand of the context	93

Fig 100 :catalytic activity pattern penetrate towards to lyen bann street.	94
Fig 101: composition of built form as an exhibition entity	94
Fig 102: location in the fort and segment of the street	95
Fig 103 :before [conservation] after	95
Fig : 103 location in the fort & meera mosque	96
Fig 104: arrangement of the physical environment and activity pattern	97
Fig 104 A : comparison of social attitude of two racial groups about their way of life	98
Fig 105: location in the fort and the composition of built forms	99
Fig 106: relationship of the commander's house and the great	100
Fig 106 A: changing pattern of church street	100
Fig 107: public spaces have been encroached by the regulations, Queen Street	100
Fig 108: location in the fort	101
Fig 109 : earlier state of church street – Dutch	101
Fig 110: impression of Church Street during the Dutch	102
Fig 111 impressions of Church Street – now	102
Fig 112: responsiveness of commercial bank and rest as an urban space.	102
Fig 113: location in the fort	104
fig 114: layout plan of commercial activities	104
Fig 115, 116: two stages of same building – galle printers hotel, before and now	105
Fig 117: location in the fort	106
Fig 118: new definition to the built environment of fort	106
Fig 119: scenes from podycherry, India	106
Fig 120: location in the fort	107
Fig 121: layout plan of Peddler Street.	108
Fig 122,123,124: impressions of Peddler Street	108