

References:

1. AS1170.2 1989, "Minimum Design Loads on Structures – Part 2: Wind Loads" Standards Australia, New South Wales.
2. AS1170.2 1993, "Minimum Design Loads on Structures – Part 4: Earthquake Loads" Standards Australia, New South Wales.
3. BS8110 Part 1: 1985, Structural Use of Concrete, British Standards Institute, London.
4. Cowan, H.J. (1991), Handbook of Architectural Technology, Ed. Cowan, H. J., Van Nostrand Reinhold, New York.
5. CP3 – 1972, "Basic data for the design of buildings - Part 2: Wind loads" British Standard Institute, London.
6. SAP2000 Nonlinear 8.1.2, Three dimensional structural analysis program, The user manual, Computers and structures, Inc., 1995 University Ave. Berkeley, CA 94704.
7. Perera D.F.U., and Jayasinghe M.T.R. (1998), "Earthquake resistant detailing for Reinforce concrete buildings constructed in Sri Lanka" Transaction – 1999, Part B, Technical Paper. The Institute Of Engineers, Sri Lanka.
8. Smith, B.S., Coull, A. (1991); Tall Building Structures: Analysis and Design; John Wiley & Sons; Inc. New York, 537p.
9. Uniform Building Code (UBC), 1985 Edition, International Conference of Building Officials, Whittier, California.
10. Wijeratne, M.D. & Jayasinghe, M.T.R., (1998); "Wind Loads for High-Rise Buildings Constructed in Sri Lanka." Transaction- Part 2, Institute of Engineer, Sri Lanka, pp58-69